Huge Crowd Enjoys Week Of Racing

GULFPORT YACHT CLUB AND SOUTHERN YACHT CLUB WIN FIRST PLACES IN INTERCLUB COMPETITION

Only those interested in sailing or understand boat racing can appreciate the District Lightning Class races at Bay St. Louis last week. The District is composed of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama and the Commander of the Lightning Fleet is Mr. Ed Overton, of Fairhope, Alabama, who is about sixty years old and has been sailing since he was five. He is one of the best known and outstanding sailors in this part of the country. There are more Lightnings than any other type of boat and owners are highly organized. Members of Yacht Clubs registered in the national organization of Lightnings pay yearly dues and hold a charter and was assigned No. 211 as its fleet number. Commodore Bell of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club was instrumental in obtaining charters for Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis. Last year the national meeting was held in Miami and this year will be in Nags Head, N.C.

Several months ago the District meeting was held in New Orleans during the Pan American Races in which Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and their son, Jack, sailed their Lightning and won one of the races. At that time Commodore Bell extended an invitation to the District to hold its three day regatta in Bay St. Louis, and Pass Christian came within one vote of obtaining the meet for Pass Christian. During the three days of the District regatta the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club entertained the visitors extensively. There were about seventy people at the opening brunch on Tuesday, and individual members entertained fifty to sixty visiting guests at the Club luncheon on Wednesday. Festivities ended Thursday with the awarding of trophies and a crab boil for those taking part in the races.

The three day Lightning meet was an interlude in the annual long distance Regatta between New Orleans and Biloxi on the Fourth of July and the following week ends. During the Regatta, which took place in Biloxi on the Fourth, in Gulfport on Saturday, July 14th, and at Bay-Waveland on Sunday, July 15th, there were boats of all classes—Looters, Cat, Fish, Lightning, Cutters, Gulf I, etc. Each Yacht Club must own at least two fish boats: Bay-Waveland has four; Skippers and skippers, sailing Fish boats, owned by the Yacht Club, in the Regatta are determined by the number of points they have earned during the year. Members who indicate that they wish to learn sailing are sent cards and assigned skippers each week in order that they may learn to become skippers. There are several races at the Bay-Waveland Club every Saturday and Sunday so that new sailors may learn how to sail.

Points are given for starting, for ending, and the number of boats passed in a race, and the one who has the most points represents the club, in the Club owned Fish Class boats in the annual Regatta.

RESULTS OF RACES TUESDAY THROUGH THURSDAY
Dixie Doodle, sailed by Cliff Prados of the Pontchartrain Lightning Fleet finished first Thursday to top the championship in the district Lightning championship.

The series lasted from Tuesday through Thursday with the Dixie Doodle finishing second in one race and crossing the finish line first in the other two. Second place went to another New Orleans boat, the Mystery, sailed by W. C. Kennan of the Southern Yacht Club. Bringing down third honors was the Metoyle, owned by June Breath of Bay St. Louis and sailed by Ed Overton of the Fair Hope Yacht Club.

Complete results and the order of finish of the boats follow:
Dixie Doodle sailed by Cliff Prados of the Pontchartrain Lightning Fleet won the district championship; Mystery, sailed by W. C. Kennan of Southern Yacht Club; Metoyle, owned by June Breath, sailed by Ed Overton of the Fair Hope Yacht Club; Coquette, sailed by Neil Hudson of the Southern Yacht Club.

Diamond Lill, sailed by John McDonald of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club; Ceruss, sailed by Jack Bell of the B-WYC; Spirit, sailed by Eugene Walet of the SYC; The Aeolus, sailed by Rob Roy of the Shreveport Yacht Club; The Bolana, owned by Evie Socola, sailed by C. J. Gordon of the B-WYC.

The Cherie, sailed by Ed Knighton of the Shreveport YC; Disturbance, sailed by H. A. Thompson of the B-WYC; Rebel, sailed by Sonny Wolfe of the B-WYC; The Cathie, sailed by H. C. Hanson of the Pass Christian Yacht Club; Strict Middling, sailed by David Comings of the Shreveport Yacht Club tied for 13th place.

The Honey II, sailed by Don McKay, Shreveport Yacht Club; Skylark, sailed by Charles Gamble of the Southern Yacht Club; The Melody, sailed by Dr. R. D. DeLee of the Shreveport Yacht Club.

FIFTEEN RACES SATURDAY
Another mid-summer regatta season went into history Saturday afternoon as the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club staged its one-day event in which 58 boats competed in the various classes.

First places in interclub fish class competition went to the Gulfport Yacht Club and the Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans. Tied Alfonso was the GYC winner, taking honors in the skipper class. Gilbert T. Gray won the skipperette trophy for Southern.

Alfonso hit the final line with a 53-second bulge over runner-up Smith of Pass Christian. Coming home third in their wake was Norman Renshaw of Bay-Waveland.

Conrad, Bay-Waveland, in the skipperette event. Only three seconds separated the two sloops at the home buoy. W. H. Williams, Jr., piloted the Chula to victory in the cutter class sailing the nine-mile course in 1:29:30.

Dr. John Coach in the Brenda was second; Sandpiper, sailed by Commander S. Jennings of Bay-Waveland was third; Bemys, sailed by "Rip" Hease of SYC was fourth; Gull of SYC sailed by Oliver Coume was fifth and Dixie Girl with Bob Norman was sixth.

H. D. Spurl sailed the Sybarite to victory in the Leaders class over Edward Jahneke in the Glendovech. J. E. Gibbons, in the Hot Toddy was third; F. E. Lejeune was fourth in the Dolphin; C. A. Spurl, Jr., was fifth in the Standpat; George Clarke was sixth in the Legend; G. S. Friedricha sailed in the Lorelei and Blane Parker was seventh. Giton was eighth. Thistle sailed by C. A. Breath won in the cruiser class beating Rascal sailed by E. L. Howell. Cappy, sailed by H. A. Bonck, was third and Agene sailed by Earl Fredricks was fourth.

Barnel sailed by Gail DeJarnette won the Star class sailing the course in 1:36. In the Cat boat class Marie Louise sailed by Andy Hilley beat Hiawatha.

League of Women Voters Hold Meeting At Home of Mrs. E. C. Samuel; Letter From Washington Was Read

The executive board of the League of Women Voters met on the afternoon of Monday, July 17, at the home of Mrs. E. C. Samuel. Board members attending were Mrs. Samuel, Mrs. L. Maumus, Mrs. E. Wiegand, Mrs. L. Carroll and Mrs. W. Wittenberger. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Samuel read two letters from national headquarters in Washington, one announcing that the Bay St. Louis league had been accepted into the national league, and henceforth every member would receive a copy of the magazine "Citizen." Therefore, it is requested that any member not receiving her copy call Mrs. Elizabeth Crusto, and make sure that her name is properly entered on the membership rolls.

The second letter pertained to proposed state conference in Jackson, Miss. October 11. Such conferences will be of immense benefit to our very young but active organization, and it is hoped that many members will be able to attend the meeting.

We will also have a visit from Mrs. Errol Horner, national organizer on October 19, and the first fall meeting will be held on that date, so that Mrs. Horner will be able to lead a discussion of league problems.

Mrs. Wittenberger, chairman of the National Budget study group, announced that she would have her material in hand to start on her project next week. It was decided by the board to devote Friday nights, from 7:45 to 9:30 to these study groups, alternate Fridays being allotted to each of the projects. The meetings will take place in the homes of the board members.

Leigh Carroll of North Beach, the first meeting will be on the night of Friday, July 28, and it is hoped that every one interested in either or both projects will be present. We think the evening will be interesting, educational and entertaining.

Disaster Committee Meeting Tuesday

There will be a meeting of the Hancock County American Red Cross Disaster Committee on Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Court House, Mr. T. T. Robin, chairman announced. This short meeting, it was stated, will be conducted by the Disaster Field Representative of Atlanta, Ga.

All members are urged to attend and a cordial invitation is extended to those interested. Mr. Robin's co-chairmen are Bob Hamilton and Mr. Lamar Ouis.

Emilio Cue Receives Service Award Plaque From Shell Oil Co.

Emilio Cue of Cue Oil Co., Inc., was awarded a bronze plaque yesterday in recognition of 15 years of business relationship with Shell Oil Company. The presentation was made by L. C. Ray, Shell's District Salesman-Jobbers of Shell products since 1932. He was one of many distributors and dealers in the Company's Atlanta marketing division to receive an award for 10 or more years of service.

Mr. Cue besides being Shell Oil distributor for this district, is also president of the Merchants Bank & Trust Company, and is connected with other business interests throughout Hancock County.

"Junior Miss" Currently Playing At Little Theatre Through Saturday

Don't miss "Junior Miss," currently playing at the Little Theatre on Boardwalk Avenue, for five nights, Tuesday, "he will enjoy it so much that he will come back soon again."

Ezelle Ling, as Ellen Curtis, J. B.'s daughter, gives a very fine interpretation to her part as does Mark Solomon, as Willis Reynolds, "Emile Willis," the stage life veterans.

Paul Tourne, as the father, was very good. He shows marked improvement in his acting, and Charlotte Smith, as the wife, was very natural. Judy Swope, who is visiting here, a guest of Mrs. A. McDonald, took the part of Hilda, the maid, and added much to the comedies.

June Breath, as the would-be sophisticated older daughter, is in her first role, but one would never suspect it, and Darling Norman as the younger daughter, and leading lady, gives a "delightful performance" as her director puts it. Dorothy Larroux, as Puffy Adams also does good work and is quite at home in her part.

John Egliff, as J. B. Curtis, is new to the Little Theatre and again to quote the director, "he is really deserving of credit for his role in this play, as it is strictly a first time for Johnny to smell grease paint and know the glare of the footlights. We hope the play will enjoy it so much that he will come back soon again."

Scotty Assenheimer, as Joe, the valet boy; Tommy Schaffer as Barlow Adams; Martin Noto as Merrill Furbach; Shelby Tucker as Sterling Brown; Tony Monti as Albert Kundry; Bruce Favre as Tommy Arbuckle, add much to the atmosphere as boy friends of Lois, Jerry Kiefer as the singing violin Union boy was most convincing and Larry Schaff, as Haskell Cummings, Judy's boy friend was very good. Also, Philip Allison, as the play was directed by Mrs. Caroline Kiefer, assisted by Betty Lee Mitchell. The stage set was done by Mary Phillip Allison and Marie Louise Blair, Props, by Ethel Grant, Make-up by Audrey Seghers and Grace Wiegand, and sound effects by Philip Allison. The furniture was supplied by W. A. McDonald & Sons Furniture Dept.

JULY 31 PROCLAIMED AS "DISASTER PREPAREDNESS DAY" BY GOVERNOR

Jackson, Miss.—Governor Fielding L. Wright has proclaimed July 31 as "Disaster Preparedness Day" throughout Mississippi.

The proclamation has been issued in connection with plans for a state disaster preparedness and relief planning conference on that date at the Heidelberg Hotel here.

The Governor, who has called the conference in joint sponsorship with the American Red Cross, expects that more than 700 representatives of the state's governmental agencies, Red Cross chapters, and other welfare and civic agencies will attend the meeting.

In issuing the proclamation, the Governor emphasized the need for proper preparedness for disaster in order "to properly mitigate the loss and suffering in the wake of such catastrophes. He has called upon all local communities to develop adequate preparedness plans which take into account detailed planning and understanding by all agencies of their specific jobs to be done if disaster should strike.

At the Jackson conference, Mississippi's local and outside resources for handling disaster emergencies and the individual family relief job necessary in the rehabilitation period will get major emphasis in conference addresses by S. Farrelly by 49 seconds.

The climax of the regatta was the dance at the Yacht Club Saturday night which was as well attended as the New Year's Supper Dance at the formal opening of the Club the first of this year.

ves and panel discussions. Specific responsibility of each agency will be charted, and a plan of coordination of effort worked out. Important on the agenda, too, will be discussions of Mississippi's State Disaster Plan, adopted in 1947 for guidance of all agencies, which has become something of a model for other states in the handling of disaster relief.

An address by Governor Wright will keynote the conference, which also will include disaster service representatives of the American National Red Cross, and various municipal, county and state officials of Mississippi. Names of speakers have not been announced.

OUR STREETS

This is another answer to our question, "What is Wrong with Bay St. Louis?" We don't have to ask anyone if they have noticed the condition of our streets. Because whether you walk or drive a car, all you have to do is make a tour of Bay St. Louis and you can readily see the condition of our streets.

They are so badly in need of repair in some sections of our town that if something isn't done real soon they will be beyond repair, and it will just be a case of plowing them up and resurfacing them in order to put them back in a usable condition.

It may be true that the city administration does not have the ready cash to resurface these streets entirely. In that case why not use a little of the tax money and at least fill the holes before some pedestrian falls in one of them and breaks a leg or some motorist runs a spare tire, or break a spring or an axle or even has a wreck with another car.

These holes in the streets are dangerous and if you do not think so, just drive down the first few blocks of DeMontluzin Avenue, for instance, or any of the unpaved streets in town and you will be convinced.

This isn't written to criticize or knock anyone but merely in the interest of the safety and protection of our citizens who after all, pay the taxes, part of which should go toward the upkeep of the city's streets.

We know that if an honest-to-goodness effort is made to remedy these conditions it can be done, because this was proven by the work done recently on the beach road. This road stayed in ruin for more than two years, before something was done to restore it, but when the authorities decided to do something about it, it didn't take very long and what was the result?—a good job, well done—and the people appreciate it, more than you think. So now, let's see if something can be done about the streets in the other sections of town. We know you can do it, if you will.

Members Realize Importance of Tourist Trade

A group of local business men, known as the Tourist Promotion Group, met last night at the home of Mrs. H. H. Kenner, 307 Carroll Avenue, to discuss the importance of the tourist trade to the local economy.

The group, which includes representatives from the hotel, restaurant, and retail trade, discussed the need for better tourist facilities and the importance of maintaining a high standard of service to attract tourists.

The group also discussed the need for better tourist information and the importance of maintaining a high standard of service to attract tourists.

Hiddleston Kenner, 83, Died Saturday at His Home, 307 Carroll Avenue

Mr. Hiddleston Kenner, aged 83, died at his residence, 307 Carroll Avenue, on Saturday afternoon, July 15, at 2:30 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, the former Frances Ann Humphreys and a nephew, Philip Minor Kenner Jr. of New Orleans. Mr. Kenner was the son of the late Philip Minor Kenner and Ella E. Kenner. He was a native of St. Charles Parish and a resident of New Orleans for many years, coming to the Bay about thirteen years ago on account of ill health. He was a graduate of the Tulane Law School and a prominent lawyer in New Orleans for thirty years. These of the Kenner brothers founded the New Orleans Wire and Iron Works and Hiddleston Kenner was the attorney for the firm. The last brother died in June, 1949.

Funeral services took place from the Fahey Funeral Home, Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock with religious services by the Rev. Charles Johnson, of Christ Church Episcopal and the body was taken by auto, borne to New Orleans for interment in Metairie Cemetery at 11:30 A.M.

TOURIST TRAVEL PROMOTION

BULLETIN NUMBER ONE

— JULY 1950 —

SUBJECT: The importance of courtesy to and proper treatment of the tourist.

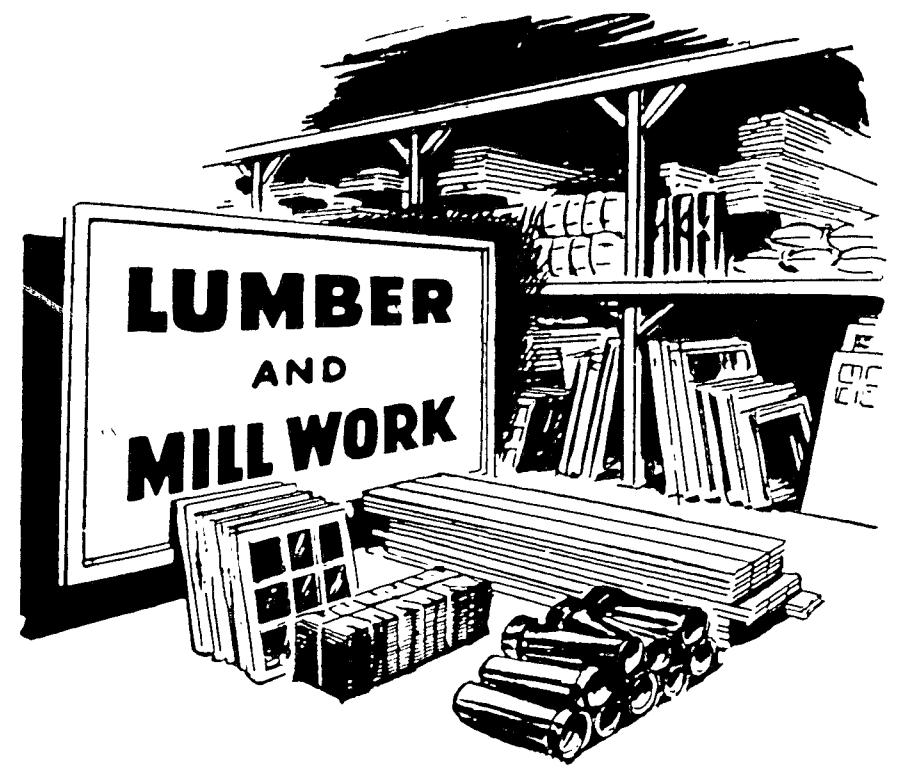

TO: All business places—employers and employees.

FROM: The Mayor's Committee on Tourist Travel Promotion.

1. Please bear in mind that the tourist or the stranger whom you are serving is a very important person. Treat him with the utmost courtesy. Go out of your way to treat him as you would like to be treated. Be polite to him. Make him feel that this is a community in which he would like to live and settle down for the remainder of his lifetime. —Remember BAY ST. LOUIS WILL BE JUDGED IN A STRANGER'S MIND BY THE MANNER IN WHICH YOU TREAT HIM!!!

2. All wide awake communities are going after the tourist business because it is BIG BUSINESS. In fact, 166 city, state and area groups spent $7,500,000.00 in advertising in 1947 to develop travel business. In 1948 and 1949, a greater amount was spent. That means that each city, state and area is operating in a highly competitive market to attract the travel dollar.

BOOST YOUR COMMUNITY—DON'T KNOCK IT!

WE HAVE EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO BUILD A HOME OF ANY AND ALL TYPES — FROM BASEMENT TO ROOF WE CAN SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS—AND AT PRICES TO FIT YOUR PURSE.

THE FEPC AGAIN

The Senate wrote first to the President's controversial FEPC Program for this session on Wednesday of the past week by a vote of 55 to 43. That body refused to invoke the rule of closure to take up the bill for consideration. While a majority of the Senators from the North and West voted the closure rule to cut off debate. Under the rule of the Senate two-thirds of the Senate (64 Senators) must vote for such a rule in order to invoke it. Unlike previous votes there was no debate. This was significant. Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois knew that regardless of debate he would lose. He merely brought it up as a further political gesture and in line with the promise that he had made after a similar defeat earlier in the session.

It is interesting to note in this connection that of the 33 Senators present and voting against the resolution, all were Southerners except six. It is further significant that none of these six were up for reelection this year, and they were all from the West and Northwest where few Negro voters reside.

PUBLIC HEALTH PROGRAM
The House, by an overwhelming vote of 249 to 71 defeated President Truman's Program to set up a Public Health Department with cabinet status.

Thus the vote came on one of the President's Reorganization Plans, Number 27, submitted to the Congress under the overall so-called Hoover Plan for reorganization of the Government. It was generally understood that the President would appoint Oscar R. Ewing, the present head of the Federal Security Agency, to the newly organized Department with cabinet status should the plan have prevailed. This was a part of the so-called Socialized Medicine Program and was bitterly opposed by most of the doctors and a good portion of the public.

SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTION
The recent South Carolina election was regarded in political circles as of great national interest. It was, in the whole, a significant election and was watched eagerly throughout the country. At stake were four contested seats in the House, one Senatorial seat, and the Governorship. It was heralded throughout the country as a further test of the President's Fair Deal Program.

In the South, in Florida and in North Carolina that program had taken real victory. In the Senatorial race, former Rights Presidential candidate J. Strom Thurmond was pitted against Anti-Fair Deal incumbent, Senator Olin Johnston. While in the gubernatorial race, former Congressman, Senator, Supreme Court Justice, Secretary of State, and "Assistant President" James F. Byrnes was running against three other South Carolinians for the Governorship. Mr. Byrnes, who in recent years has been a bitter critic of President Truman and his Fair Deal Program, won by a tremendous majority over the field. But in the Senate race, Senator Johnston, who had been in the Senate since 1934, was defeated by Governor Thurmond. No doubt the Fair Deal press and politicians will make much to do over the defeat of Governor Thurmond. But the Fair Deal and the President would not the issue in this race. In fact, both Senator Johnston and Governor Thurmond, who had been in the Senate since 1934, were defeated by the Civil Rights and other planks of the President's Program. Senator Johnston even went so far as to call President Truman a "Blabber mouth" from the stump.

Two of the House members, Congressman Joseph R. Byrnes and Mendel Rivers were returned in the first primary, and two Congressmen, James H. Hare and Hugo Sims, face runoffs. An interesting and significant fact was that Congressman Rivers, from the Dealer incumbent, Senator Olin Johnston, whom he easily defeated.

Refrigeration has come a long way since those days of the well house and the cooling cellar. The ultimate today is the modern natural gas refrigerator, which protects perishables indefinitely, provides roomy storage space for frozen foods and plenty of ice cubes for frosty summer drinks. Dependable natural gas service helps you with all the big jobs in the home.

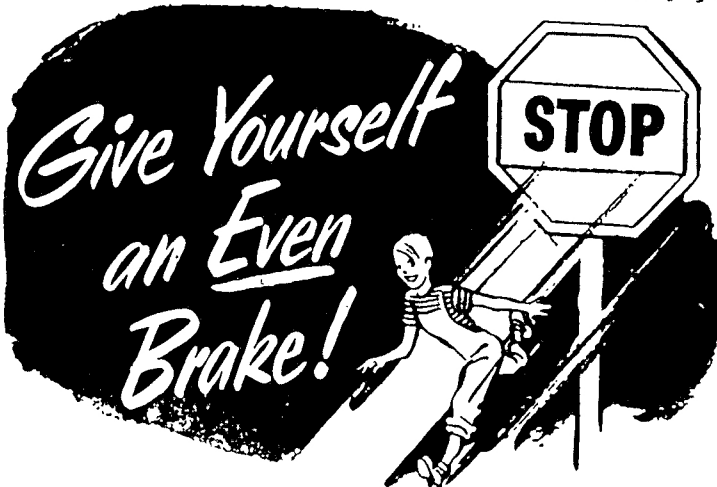

The MODERN Gas Refrigerator stays silent...lasts longer. No moving parts in the freezing system. See it wherever fine gas appliances are sold!

Back of your natural gas service stands a great and growing industry, a fine example of private investors and private management helping to build a better life for all of us. Nearly every resident of the Gulf South benefits in one way or another from the operations of the natural gas industry—through the millions of dollars it places in circulation through its payrolls or local purchases, its royalties to land owners or its dividends to investors.

NO PROSPECT OF INCREASE IN U.S. TAXES

Washington—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate finance committee said he sees no prospect of increasing federal taxes at the present session of Congress, even though the Korean situation worsens.

"There will be plenty time for that in January, if the need arises," he said. George formally announced the indefinite suspension of work on the House-passed $1,010,000,000 excise tax slashing bill, but he did not write off entirely the chance of some action later on this legislation.

He summed up the situation for newsmen as his finance committee con-

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

By Mrs. Gertrude Hall

"The Good Old Summertime" This fact is in evidence all about us these days the sunned boys and girls who are playing along our beaches, the crowds of people all along Coleman Avenue and up and down Waveland Avenue, the babbling of heads and shoulders above the waves at the foot of the Waveland Community Pier, the brightness of homes along the beach front opened for the summer, dots of light from lamps in homes among the pines, the rush in the stores—especially on Saturday the number of cars at the depot in the evening to pick up Dad who is commuting to New Orleans.

These and many other signs are welcome in Waveland. Yes, indeed, summer is really here and in spite of the heat, we love it!

Sixty youngsters belonging to the Junior High Group, ranging in age from 12 to 14 years old, are certainly enjoying their stay at Dielman Center. The group arrived early this week and will remain until the 26th of July. The program is under the supervision of Rev. Norman Maurer, of the Maritime Evangelical Reform Church in New Orleans. While at the camp the children will do special camp craft work, such as bead work, soap sculpture and carving in stone. Many sports activities have been planned during the program. In the mornings two classes are taught, one on China conducted by Mrs. Grace Snyder, a China missionary, and another class entitled, Living Together in This World.

During the evenings the group enjoys many forms of recreation, among them motion pictures. Films on India, Africa, Forests of America, Displaced Persons and the Manufacture of Aluminum have been shown during this week.

The Holy Cross Villa is busy too these days with boys around twelve years of age. The beautiful new buildings are being enjoyed by both Brothers and boys. The Brothers who have charge of Holy Cross Camp have come here during the summer from various places. Brothers Vincent, Severin, Rembert, Melchior, Timothy, Mary Joseph and Thomas Aquinas come from Holy Cross High School in New Orleans. Brothers Octavius, Eamon, Augustine, and Aloysius come from Notre Dame High School in Biloxi as does the Father McGregor who gives the sermon each Sunday morning. Brother John Chrysostom, the camp's wonderful cook, comes from Notre Dame, Indiana and the other Brother from Indiana is Brother Etienne, the Camp Director, who comes cluded public hearings on the House bill.

Military leaders asked the Senate appropriations committee for a $1,900,000 increase in funds to boost the strength of the National Guard. Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) and Maybank (D-SC) said the committee decided to wait until President Truman submits an expected request for additional military funds for the Korean fighting before acting on the National Guard item.

from Catholic High School in Indianapolis.

Twenty-six of the boys at the camp hail from New Orleans. Several other boys, however, traveled quite a distance to enjoy all of the wonderful benefits of this summer camp. The two "Seniors" Jose and Edmundo Tefel have come all the way from Managua, Nicaragua. Jasper Roberts comes from Galveston, Texas. Mississippi is well represented with McCumb, Kenneth and Davey Shaw, Jackson. From other parts of Louisiana come the following boys: John and Mike Bourdeaux, Thibodaux; John O'Reilly, Lake Charles; Robert Jacquas, Glen Bourgcois, and Mike Drouilhet, Metairie; and Theo Coenen, Rayville. The New Orleans boys are Charles Abdella, Donny and Herby Battistella, John Berault, Leon Carroll, Stephen Berbes, Augustus Elmer, Larry Giessinger, Peter Giuffria, Edmond Gizaules, Jack Grant, Wayne Gravois, Robert Guisenger, Robert Jones, Konrad and James and Stewart Lagarde, Kurt Leonhard, Malcolm Myde, Charles Pomes, Charles and Robert Riecke, Billy Summers, Sammy Tournillon, Thomas Vulliet, and Roy Yates.

The boys have been having a wonderful time playing volleyball, baseball, swimming, tennis, and the presentation of a magic show. White caps, a two page paper, dealing with the camp's many and varied activities is published bi-monthly.

Johnny McCurdy, son of Mrs. S. Mauffray, left Saturday for Bella Haven College in Jackson, where he will represent Bay High School at Boy State which is sponsored by the American Legion. Johnny will be away for about eight days.

Repairs are now underway at the Waveland School. Last fall a fire of undetermined origin destroyed a back wall of the school and the tool shed. All of this work will be completed by the opening of school in the fall. New blackboards will be installed also, along with other equipment according to Miss Mary Perkins, principal. Miss Perkins has as her guest now her sister, Miss Gertrude Perkins, of Atlanta.

Reverend Robert Salley will again conduct services at 7:30 p.m., at 728 Beach Boulevard Friday evening. All are invited.

Watch for the big opening of Tucker's Variety Store, known formerly as the Waveland Variety Store. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Tucker will move into their new building shortly. On the opening day entrance prizes will be awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Matrangola, Jr. and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Matrangola, Sr., and the H. Matrangolas were recent guests of the B. Berckes in Waveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Crater spent the week end at their home on Market St.

Mrs. Walter Turcotte spent last week in New Orleans visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schwaner. Little Linda Ann Schwaner returned to her home in New Orleans with her parents after a very pleasant stay in Waveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carrio spent the week end at their home on Market St.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carrio and Miss Earline Godchaux visited Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bordages and other relatives over the week end.

The Melvin Villers have a new son, born on July 14, at Kings' Daughters' Hospital in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Callahan and family are at their home on Waveland Avenue for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Buck) Jorns and children have returned to New Orleans after a month's vacation spent at the home of Mrs. Jorns' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bourgeois, Jr., and Mrs. Paul Bourgeois and son are now visiting with the Harry Bourgeois'.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henley visited in Poplarville over the week end. Mrs. Henley and the "boys" stayed over for another week.

"NO TURNING BACK NOW," SAYS COLMER OF KOREAN SITUATION

Gulfport, Miss. Rep. William M. Colmer (D-Miss.) told the Mississippi Rural Letter Carriers' Association convention here "there is no turning back now" in Korea.

He said "This thing in Korea could develop into World War 3, a stalemate, a testing ground for new weapons, or the re-establishment of the young South Korean republic."

Rep. Colmer contended that the Korean difficulties will not settle the question between democracies and communism, although he believes the eventual result will be driving the Communists out of South Korea.

He asserted that while the Soviet Union might easily send weapons in to the North Korean Reds, he does not believe Russian troops will be dispatched. He reasoned that the Russians would not risk everything by force of arms when they have been so successful in gaining control of various countries by creating chaos and confusion.

The congressman stated he was not making a war speech because he does not believe war will come in the "foreseeable future," but "we will have a lot of trouble, then more trouble."

"Now, we have called their hand," he declared, "and we will have to hang together. America is the most powerful nation in the world and as such we must carry the burden of world leadership. Whether we like it or not, we are our brother's keeper."

At earlier sessions, the convention heard problems, conditions and financing of rural mail carrying discussed. The speakers included L. L. Moneyway, Washington, D. C., superintendent of rural delivery personnel, and Charles L. Ashcraft, Osage City, Kan., national board representative.

The recently enacted rural road program in Mississippi also drew the attention of the convention. It was noted that bad roads have been the biggest problem to rural mail carriers in the past.

Mayor Milton T. Evans and Gulfport postmaster George Poole welcomed the convention. Responding were M. B. Pulliam, Ashland for the carriers, and Mrs. E. A. Caples, Thaxton, for the ladies auxiliary.

DRAFTEES TO GET 14 WEEKS OF TRAINING

Washington—The Army said this week that draftees will be given 14 weeks training and then will be assigned first to posts within the United States.

Later some will go overseas but a spokesman said the number going over will not be large nor happen soon.

The spokesman also said that if the first call for 20,000 draftees has the indirect result of bringing in large numbers of volunteers, a second draft call may not be needed to bring the Army up to its present ceiling of 630,000.

However, he did not discount the possibility that the ceiling might be raised. The present strength of the Army is 593,000.

There will be no numbers drawing for the draft. The birth date is the factor in determining which men will be called to duty.

Draft boards throughout the nation were instructed to fill their quotas for a 20,000-man draft "as soon as possible and not later than September 30."

The orders went to 54 states and territories.

The quotas are relatively small and you may not be called. But suppose your local board has a quota of two men, you're between 19 and 26 years old and classified 1-A because of lack of dependents, physical condition and such. You'll get the first call if you are the man nearest 26 on the board's list. Your companion on the trip to the induction center will be the man next oldest.

Rural electrification development in the 1949-50 fiscal year by electric cooperatives and other groups associated with the Rural Electrification Administration, added more than 170,000 miles of lines, or 42 per cent more than were added in the preceding fiscal year. Electric service was extended to 570,000 new customers, compared with 420,519 new customers the year before, and the amount of electric energy supplied rose to 5,400,000,000 kilowatts, an increase of 35 per cent over the preceding period.

Betty Sue Denton, From Tupelo, Crowned Miss Hospitality At Biloxi Last Saturday

Dora Lee Livingston of Yazoo City, and Elnor Green of Grenada Named First and Second Alternates

A radiant 20-year-old bride from Tupelo, Miss. Betty Sue Denton, who hopes to become an interior decorator in the not-too-distant future, was proclaimed Mississippi's 1950 Miss Hospitality over 40 other beautiful entries from all over the state and crowned the state's second "Miss Hospitality" by Governor Fielding L. Wright in a ceremony Saturday night in the Hurricane Room of the Hotel Buena Vista Biloxi.

First and second alternates were named Miss Dora Lee Livingston of Yazoo City, a student at Mississippi State College for Women, and Miss Elnor Green, 1949 Mississippi Maid of Cotton representative of Grenada.

Miss Denton will represent Mississippi for the next year in helping promote the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board's comprehensive business promotion program. She claims to have no steady but was all smiles Saturday night for a certain young man from Duke University. Miss Hospitality winners are under contract for a year's time and must remain single during that period.

Betty was a student last year at Randolph Macon's Woman's College in Virginia but plans to enroll at Ole Miss this fall. A member of Chi Omega social sorority and the Pi Sigma society in college and the editor of her high school paper, Betty was chosen Tupelo's

Each of the young ladies escorted by one of the governor's colonels, was presented with a framed certificate proclaiming them the official Miss Hospitality of their home communities.

Special gifts, engraved compacts from the governor's colonels, also were presented to the beauties. Miss Denton was presented a bag of silver dollars by A. P. Shobemaker, president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Hotel Association in connection with the silver anniversary of that organization.

The new Miss Hospitality was born November 20, 1929 at Corinth. She weighs 116 pounds, is five-feet four inches tall, has brown eyes, 35½-inch bust, 25-inch waist, and 35½-inch hips. She attended Tupelo High School.

Andy Pavlin, photographer for the Chicago Tribune, who served as one of the contest judges had this to say to Betty's parents: "She looks like Mississippi."

CHRYSLER IMPERIAL; NEW SEDAN NOW IN FULL PRODUCTION

The luxurystyled Chrysler Imperial sedan now has been put into production, it is announced by Joseph A. O'Malley, general sales manager of the Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corp.

Distinctive exterior lines and ultra-smart interior trim of the new model are designed to make the Imperial sedan the most exclusive and beautifully appointed 6-passenger sedan in the industry, according to Mr. O'Malley.

Highlight of exterior styling is the massive wrap-around "clearbac" rear window that provides a maximum of rearward vision and accentuates the "flow, sleek lines of the vehicle. The "clearbac" window has previously been available only in Chrysler's Newport models.

The Imperial's interior trim is of the finest quality possible, provided particularly for those discriminating persons who appreciate and desire the ultimate in motor car luxury. Mr. O'Malley declares:

Exquisite wool broadcloth fabrics in a variety of patterns are combined with the finest quality top-grain leather for upholstery and trim. All interior fittings—door handles, instrument panel, steering wheel spokes and other fittings where polished chrome is normally used—are finished in soft, satiny butler-finished chrome.

Standard equipment includes automatic electric window lifts. Also standard are seat adjustment, white sidewall tires, and chrome wheel covers. The front and back seats are provided with a double-width folding center armrest, 14 inches wide, for the comfort of the driver and passengers. Seat backs as well as seat cushions are foam rubber padded.

The Imperial 6-passenger sedan has a wheelbase of 131-1/2 inches and is powered by the 135-horsepower Chrysler Spitfire engine. It is equipped with Prestomatic Fluid Drive transmission and Chrysler's waterproof ignition system as standard equipment.

God will not seek thy race, nor will He ask thy birth. Alone He will demand of thee what hast thou done with the land that I gave thee.—Psalms 139:14

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT LAYS OFF 67 EMPLOYEES

Jackson—Director T. C. Robbins of Mississippi's Highway Department says 67 workers have been cut off.

He said that the move was possible because of "a more economical organization" resulting from the state's pay-as-you-go highway construction program.

The department released during the last two months 55 workers from the three Highway Commission districts, and the remainder from the Jackson headquarters.

He said road building fluctuated so much over bond issue financing that economical operations could not be planned.

FURTHER CUTS SEEN

Further personnel reduction may be made he indicated.

Mississippi is on a pay-as-you-go highway construction program tied to highway construction program tied to a one-cent raise in gasoline taxes, voted by the 1950 legislature, and a requirement that the Highway Department earmark one cent of its two and one-half-cent share of gasoline taxes for new road construction.

In 1700 it took 19 people working in the soil to produce food for 20 so one could go to town. Now, one and a half to two can produce enough for 10. The city is a product of the agriculture machines.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT LAYS OFF 67 EMPLOYEES

Jackson—Director T. C. Robbins of Mississippi's Highway Department says 67 workers have been cut off.

He said that the move was possible because of "a more economical organization" resulting from the state's pay-as-you-go highway construction program.

The department released during the last two months 55 workers from the three Highway Commission districts, and the remainder from the Jackson headquarters.

He said road building fluctuated so much over bond issue financing that economical operations could not be planned.

FURTHER CUTS SEEN

Further personnel reduction may be made he indicated.

Mississippi is on a pay-as-you-go highway construction program tied to highway construction program tied to a one-cent raise in gasoline taxes, voted by the 1950 legislature, and a requirement that the Highway Department earmark one cent of its two and one-half-cent share of gasoline taxes for new road construction.

In 1700 it took 19 people working in the soil to produce food for 20 so one could go to town. Now, one and a half to two can produce enough for 10. The city is a product of the agriculture machines.

ly used—are finished in soft, satiny butler-finished chrome.

Standard equipment includes automatic electric window lifts. Also standard are seat adjustment, white sidewall tires, and chrome wheel covers. The front and back seats are provided with a double-width folding center armrest, 14 inches wide, for the comfort of the driver and passengers. Seat backs as well as seat cushions are foam rubber padded.

"GUILTY OF TREASON" NITE ONLY AT STAR, WEDNESDAY, JULY 26

Twice nominated for the Academy Award "Oscar," Hollywood advance reports indicate that Charles Bickford is assured a third star honor for his performance in "Guilty of Treason" at the Star Theatre, Wednesday, July 26. Cast in the role of Cardinal Mindszenty, Bickford feels that he has the greatest part of his acting career in this film which brings to the screen for the first time the shocking story of the infamous true-life treason trial of the Hungarian Prime Minister. Bickford was nominated last year for his performance in "Johnny Belinda." He previously was a candidate for Hollywood's most prized honor for his portrayal of a Catholic priest in "Song of Bernadette." Paul Kelly, Bonita Granville, and Richard Derr share co-starring honors with Bickford in "Guilty of Treason," which was produced by Jack Wrather and Robert Golden, the man who made the electrifying hit "Hitler's Children." Although the story plot is fictional, it is played against a factual background which is based on the book "As We See Russia," written by 25 leading members of the Overseas Press Club who served as foreign correspondents in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Barry Kroeger, Elizabeth Risdon and Roland Winters head the large supporting cast in "Guilty of Treason," which Eagle Lion Films is releasing.

NO SUGAR SHORTAGE
Brokers say that there should be no hoarding of sugar, due to the Korean war, because there is approximately a million tons of surplus raw sugar on hand in Cuba alone. This is in addition to the 7,500,000 tons the United States is expected to use this year.

POLIO
A new outbreak of infantile paralysis has been reported across the nation. The number of polio cases so far this year is slightly above the number in the same period last year, when the nation had a record all-time high of 42,375 new polio patients.

ADVENTURES OF SIR GALAHAD

Trifles & Treasures

PEGGY FOOTE

I am writing this from the terrace of a lovely swimming pool on the private estate of some friends of ours. There is no one here but Gladys, the maid, Savannah, the cook, a yard man whose name I have not learned, my young companion and "Chubby" the adorable baby of our hosts. Everyone else has gone to another town for an occasion which, I felt, did not necessarily include us. So, we begged off to enjoy the pool and rummaged.

The grounds are lovely and I have inspected the garden with an admiring eye.

My companion and I are playing at being "queen for a day" and reveling in all the luxury and beauty. Soon the yard man will build us a fire in the pit and we will fix our lunch outdoors. Then, if we are lazy (?) we will retreat to the rummaged room (called the "dog house" here) and stretch out for a siesta. The "dog house" consists of two shower rooms, a huge relaxation room, complete with rattan furnishings, card tables, record player, lounges, an enormous "marble" fire place and a kitchen.

We plan to spend the entire day right here. I can think of nothing more gratifying than a day stolen out of my busy existence and spent in complete and justified laziness. The only question is—will I ever be the same again?

We sat in a restaurant last night and saw the female occupant at the next table literally drowned in the juice from her lemon. It reminded me to tell you to cut out the center membrane from the slice and then the juice won't fly into everything but your tea.

At a convention not long ago Margaret Eboran remarked to me quite aply: "My dear, Mildred takes 'Vogue' too seriously." I turned to find Mildred in a bold white and tangerine organdie tea dress, a wide-brimmed beige straw hat trimmed in tangerine velvet and green grapes, tangerine opera pumps and, ludicrously, a beruffled tangerine sunshade swung over one arm. She might have been stunning at a garden wedding, but at a serious morning session and in a Northern city in May she truly seemed entirely out of place.

The word "Creole" intrigues, interests, mystifies or shocks some of our neighboring sisters. I shall never forget the last mentioned effect it had on one woman I was guest of honor several years ago at a luncheon at the Junior League Club in Houston. The lady on my right, in an attempt to be gracious said brightly, "Tell me something of your husband—I'm so curious about him." I floundered for a moment, not knowing exactly what she wanted to hear and then I began "Well, he is Creole and..." that's as far as I got when she sank back in her chair in shocked silence. My hostess was mortified. (I was frankly amused) but handled the situation beautifully. She knew exactly what the lady was thinking and so did I. The next day my hostess called to apologize and she had explained to the lady exactly what "Creole" meant. But, I have never known whether the lady in question was convinced or not.

In an article by Mary Pickford in one of the recent editions of a larger newspaper she stated, in effect, that we could be too profuse in our expression of gratitude, thereby instilling a sense of doubt in our hostesses' mind as to whether we really are sincere. She suggests that we express our thanks simply and genuinely and let it go at that. Well, anything overdone is underdone, if you know what I mean. I remember a time when my gratitude was so over whelming that I could not seem to find the words to express it. I needed to express it and I stood repeating the same thing over and over until my hostess began to shift from one foot to the other and I saw clearly that she was embarrassed. I laughed and said "That was a little too well done, wasn't it? I'll do better next time." It was a lesson to me, remember to say (without the garish) "Thank you so much, you've been so nice."

I simply cannot agree that a hot shower in summer does all that the ones say it will to make one seem cooler. I've tried it too often and found myself almost irritable from the effect.

A piece of grapefruit I had served to me the other morning looked tired and colorless and uninteresting. I started to reject it but decided it was simpler just to eat it and keep quiet. To my surprise it was meaty, sweet and completely satisfactory. It struck me that some people are that way.

In the July issue of a popular magazine is a wonderful article on the care of house plants. It tells that some plants are allergic to painted clay pots. "Bizarre" containers, it tells us, are not satisfactory and it asks bluntly, "We are interested in the pots or the plants." Some of the most beautiful plants I have ever seen were growing in all sorts of non-descript containers on the porch of a rustic hut. Of course, we don't want our living rooms littered with coffee cans, "pneu chambres," etc., but it does seem like the plants take to them like natives. If a plant should be passed on to one of us in a container which we would not consider using indoors, then colorful tin foil, which can be purchased in any garden supply house, will serve as a camouflage.

Read an interesting article in another current magazine concerning "moude plume." This was written particularly about female Swedish columnists. One calls herself merely "Kid"; another, "Bang," and still another, "Attis" (her name is Astrid). The Kid and the Bang, I imagine, are borrowed from our American slang. None of them are very appealing, as far as I am concerned. Since one has an unlimited choice of names it seems a reasonably attractive one would be selected. Maybe mine isn't so good either, but it, at least, has some meaning. The first one is a nick name I acquired from a room-mate in Texas years ago. The latter is chosen from family records in the very old, bulky Bible.

Allen H. Hearn, editor-in-chief of one of Stockholm's leading newspapers, says he doesn't know why anyone uses a nom de plume. I know why I use one. In the first place—I don't think I'm any good as a writer. In the second place, hiding behind an assumed name gives one a lot more freedom to write exactly what one thinks. I imagine most noms de plume are born from fear of failure.

This is a light summer desert:
Orange Whip—
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/4 cup cold water.
1 1/2 cup boiling water.
2 tbs. sugar.
1 1/4 tea grated orange rind.
1 cup orange juice.

Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 min.; add boiling water, sugar; stir until dissolved. Add orange juice and rind. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat with rotary beater until frothy. Pour into 4 molds. Chill until firm. Serves 4.

Mrs. E. C. Samuel is one of the busiest little people I ever knew, and you'll find her one of the most accommodating.

The return trip will be Friday, July 28, arriving in Gulfport about 4 p.m. The program will include tours, exhibits and discussions on better farm and home methods. Speakers will include Hugh White, former governor; Frank L. Teuton of the agricultural research bureau, USDA, Washington, D. C., and Ben Collier, state-aid engineer, who will talk on farm-to-market roads.

Many Americans might be inclined to overlook the fact, but the public school system is the great bulwark of independence and liberty.
